DAVIS THEATRE.

Jolly Fannie Hatfield & Co. in The Fifth Commandment Today,

For the first half of this week the For the first half of this week the Davis patrons will have an opportunity of witnessing one of the most pleasing vaudeville and photoplay shows of the season; the feature attraction today is our ever welcome Jolly Fannie Hatfield and her clever company of players in the strong dramatic playlet, The Fifth Commandment. There are four people in the cast and everyone is an actor of the "sex" plays and other morbid attractions. ment. There are four people in the cast and everyone is an actor of the highest standard. Evennan and Carroll, a young fellow and girl, have a delightful singing and taking comedy skit called the Crying Nuts; this act is away from the general run of double acts and is sure to prove a big winner. Unice Howe, the dainty little comedienne, will keep you entertained with her songs and her beautiful dress are all in accordance with the high class of the act. In the photopiays today the headline feature is a two reel K. B. production called Dispersion of the conditions and other morbid attractions seem to hold sway. The show at this popular house is one to which you may take your wife, sweetheart, mother or sister, and also the children and everyone will be provided with good whole amusement. The Powers brand of films starts today's program with that sterling actor, Edwin August, in A Seaside Samaritan. Next will be one of those fine Gold Seal drams entitled The Lie, featuring Miss Pauline Bush. Dan Collins, the English humorist, starts the vaudeville with his quaint songs and stories worce, a powerful drama of domestic

Louis Gill lost his sanning shop, in-cluding most of the contents, by fire Saturday night. The fire started about seven o'clock, probably from an over-heated boller. Mr. Gill said if it had not been for the fireproof roof the build-ing might have been conditionable. ing might have been saved, but that burned faster than the rest of the shop. The house caught several times, and if it had not been for the work of F. C. Whiting, a near neighbor, that would have burned also, as well as the ther buildings. A garden hose was used, which article fortunately Mr. fill possessed. The loss is estimated at $900, partly covered by insurance. The building contained among other things, machinery, numberless bottles and cans, canned goods all ready to r. Arthur. This is a masterpiece of notion picture productions, be shipped and three tons of coal put in Saturday. The house is heated by steam, the pipes coming underground from the boiler in the canning shop; consequently as the boiler is out of commission and all the wood and coal burned, the house was without heat.
